

LABOR TROUBLE ENDED AT LAST

Strike at the Butter Cane Plant Is Settled.

The long-drawn-out labor strike was amicably settled at a special meeting of the Storey County Labor Union last night. This very satisfactory result was accomplished through the good offices of Father Tubman, says the Enquirer.

Yesterday morning Messrs. Whipple and Perry, who have charge of the Butter Cane plant, placed the matter in Father Tubman's hands, and requested him to use his influence in settling the strike. He secured from the above named gentlemen their terms of settlement, and the officers of the union to what were their demands. Then, through consultation with Messrs. Perry and Whipple, he succeeded in compromising the difference and reducing them to a formula of eight points. A special meeting was then hastily summoned in Miners' Union Hall and Father Tubman eloquently pleaded with the assembled members to accept the compromise. He urged wise counsel to prevail and asked Divine guidance in their deliberations. At the conclusion of his remarks a rousing vote of thanks was unanimously tendered him for his good services.

After long and earnest discussion the union voted to accept every proposition laid before it by Father Tubman. Then the strike was officially declared off by the unanimous vote of the union. The people of Storey county are to be congratulated on the friendly settlement of the labor trouble. It will benefit this town at a time when it needs it most, and the Christmas holidays will be rendered brighter in many homes by reason of the settlement.

For the Board to Consider.

Several citizens have suggested to The Journal the advisability of requesting the board of County Commissioners to reduce the grade on what is known as the Slaughter house hill a short distance north of town.

Over this road come most of the teams that are engaged in freighting between Reno and outside points.

It is only a short hill but is the worst on the road.

It is largely due to this pull that local wood dealers are able to advance prices as soon as winter sets in.

Wood is sold here at a reasonable price during the summer because of competition by the woodchoppers in the Cedar and Juniper hills. When winter sets in the slaughter house grade becomes impassable and up goes the price of fuel from 50 cents to $1 a cord.

Discovered a Happy Home.

Early yesterday morning, while one of The Journal's hired men was home ward plodding his weary way, he heard a sound of revelry by night. Echoes of innocent laughter and refined jest were wafted out from the Standard saloon. A peep inside disclosed an unaccustomed barkeeper. Officer Nash was notified and the latter assigned The Journal man to stand guard over the premises until relief arrived, which was three hours later.

It appears that Mr. Rutledge locked up but the key turned without securing the doors. Weary wayfarers, happening along, took possession, built a fire and proceeded to put down the demon Rum.

With the exception of a whisky bottle, nothing was disturbed. The cash register was open. It contained twenty or thirty dollars, but the discoverers of this happy home were not till tappers.

AN EASTERN OPINION.

WHILE some of the Republican papers in Nevada, in their partisan zeal to discredit the work of an opposition Congressman, are making feeble attempts to obstruct all practical projects for national aid to irrigation, a goodly portion of the eastern press is coming into line with favorable comments upon the proposition. The following is from the Montpelier (Vermont) Argus:

Friends of this plan say it is as justifiable for the government to irrigate valuable lands as for it to improve harbors and rivers. One is for the benefit of commerce, the other agriculture. The arguments by which river and harbor legislation is justified, they say, apply equally well to irrigation. If Congress refuses irrigation they say it should let the States and cities look after their own harbors and rivers.

These are reasonable arguments. They show that there is an opportunity for trading or for retaliatory legislation. There is no special friendship for river and harbor legislation in the west where they want irrigation. Western members may say to those who want harbors dredged and channels made in their rivers, that they will vote for irrigation. Or they may threaten that if legislation for irrigation is refused they will prevent any legislation for harbors. The farmer has the advantage of position, and the westerners are likely to come nearer to accomplishment at the coming session than they ever have before.

The subject is one of vast importance to a large section of the country. The States have interested themselves in it, and societies and individuals have been working in the matter for years. Irrigation congresses have been held and a concerted effort has been made to promote the project. The cost is not known; it can barely be estimated; but it will be extremely heavy. It will result in great benefit.

THE CUBAN CAMPAIGN.

A FEW days ago The Journal made reference to the political situation in Cuba in connection with the first election campaign on that island, and the probability that it would not prove as harmonious as was at first expected, and the indications are that our prediction is more than verified. It is manifest that a great deal of hard feeling is developing. While General Palma, who has long resided there, is the leading candidate, General Maso has declared himself, and the following that he has developed has given the Palma managers no little concern. The Platt amendment seems to have been seized upon as the chief issue, and it would appear to clearly stand that it is the reef upon which Cuban harmony has been broken. It should have been foreseen that its arbitrary conditions would give it a serious wrench, more than the necessity for it demanded, if real friendship for a Cuban republic was cherished. And, so, at the public meetings the Maso party is attacking that amendment as something that never should have been accepted, and consequently should in some way be overthrown. The Palma followers are forced to acknowledge that it is something they did not want, and apologize for its effect, real and prospective, but further argue that having been imposed it should be meekly borne. On the other hand, it is urged that meekness and servility have not been made a voluntary characteristic of the Cuban, and considering what he has passed through to maintain such a stand, it is not the time to drop it now, when the demand comes from those professing real friendship. They can at least tear off that mask, if it is a mask; if it is not, then the real independence they seek, as it has been sought for years, is within their grasp. It may be too much to say that without the Platt amendment there would have been no real election contest in Cuba, but it is plain that it is the bone over which an earnest and even bitter fight is being made, with no one defending it.

The one faction opposes it, while the others hold that it is a real necessity, and that its imposition must be suffered.

AN INCIDENTAL EFFECT.

THERE has been no little discussion in recent years of the theory that the government should own public utilities, and the particular concrete example has been the railroads. The theory has been rather plausibly sustained, but the practical application, both as to the urgent need and the certainty of successful management of such important properties, has not been so clearly established. But the feeling has been stirred up throughout the west at the announcement of Morgan's $400,000,000 combine embracing the transcontinental lines, thus forming a railroad trust as far as effects the extreme northwest, with its vast undeveloped resources, indicates that such a move bids fair to do more to develop the movement for government ownership of railroads than anything that has heretofore occurred. It is definitely commented that Governor Vant Sant of Minnesota and the neighboring executives storm and threaten and may hasten their legislatures into action. The articles and agreements have been so well drawn by skillful attorneys that they are secure in that direction. Their refuge is the courts, if there shall be persecution, as they look upon it, and the courts are said to be in their favor. When gigantic corporations get beyond the reach of legislatures, they have gotten out of the reach of the arm of the people, and a way will, or should be found to come up to them. That is what will give a spur to government ownership, if the representations of both sides are well founded.

FORMER Queen Liliuokalani is again seeking to recover the crown lands of Hawaii. It looks as if she was entitled to them, or to some compensation for them. The Hawaiian legislature evidently thought so, for it passed a bill appropriating $250,000 as a recompense for taking them. Governor Dole vetoed the bill, but if he had not she would have refused to accept the amount, as the lands bring in a yearly revenue of $500,000.

THE Carson News has two complaints against Congressman Newlands. One is that he has invested money in Nevada lands, and the other that he demands too much in Congress for his State. Neither of these charges would hold for a second against the News' candidate nor his senatorial colleague, factotum, adjutant and mouthpiece, the Honorable William Makeshift Stewart.

Hawkins Was Found at Last.

The house that greeted the "Hunting for Hawkins" company last night was not over large, but was interesting and pleased with the rendition.

This has been the fate of the company throughout the Nevada circuit. It gave a good show, but for some unaccountable reason happened to play in hard luck.

The foregoing was faked up before the scribe saw the show. It was a beaut. The thread of plot was just strong enough to be tangible and to bear the weight of the delightful speculations struck upon it.

The audience was in an uproar of delight throughout the two hours and a half of the play. Some of the best dancing ever seen upon the local stage was given. The anecdotes related by the funny man were all crisp and fresh, while the movement of the play never halted and the "qui vive of expectation" was very much in evidence.

The play had not been heralded with the usual press notices and that alone accounted for the light house. It seems that a date in Sacramento had been cancelled at the last moment and in consequence stops were made at Winnemucca and Wadsworth, delaying the Nevada circuit two days.

Anchor Ice Is Causing Considerable Trouble.

The Truckee River General Electric Company had trouble at its Floriston power house yesterday on account of anchor ice.

This is a peculiar congelation which appears to be heavier than the water. It floats along on the bed of the stream and adheres to the boulders.

At one time it was feared that the plant would be compelled to shut down temporarily. Superintendent Condit wired to Manager Bechtel that Reno might be in darkness, but at this writing the incandescents are glowing as bright as ever.

Farmers' Institute Is Now in Session.

The Farmers' Institute opened in Elko yesterday. A number of townspeople, farmers and stockmen were in attendance.

The program was largely taken up with themes presented by University professors and discussed by the audience.

The Institute will close this evening. Sessions will be held in the near future at Lovelock, Gardnerville and possibly one or two other farming centers in Nevada.

Financial Talk No. 17.

Cyrus Field Earned $50,000 the First Year and $100,000 the Second Year—He Worked in a Dry Goods Store.

My friend, have you heard of the town of Yawn,

On the banks of the River Slow, Where blooms the Wait-a-While flower fair.

Where the some-time-or-other scents the air, And the soft Go-easys grow?

It lies in the Valley of What's-the-use, In the province of Let-her-slide; That tired feeling is native there, It's the home of the listless I-don't-care.

Where the Put-it-offs abide, The Put-it-offs smile when asked to Invest.

And say they will do it tomorrow, And so they delay from day to day, Till death cycles up and takes them away.

And their families beg, steal or borrow.

—Australian Budget.

We offer you an investment absolutely secure, and paying the highest dividends, consistent with careful management. Our plan is simple and practical. No membership fee charged. You can suspend agreed payments indefinitely without forfeiture, fines, dues, or penalties of any kind whatsoever.

Neat and Commodious.

George W. Perkins has moved his undertaking establishment into the new Becker building on Sierra Street. He occupies the entire lower floor, and has handsomely furnished his apartments.

An Unusual Delay.

The V. & T. train was half an hour late last evening—something unusual. The delay was caused by a poor connection at the Mound House, and a hot box between Franktown and Washoe.

A Booming Town.

W. H. Morgison came in from Loyallton yesterday. He reports great activity in that new railroad city. A sawmill and two box factories are in operation.

Traffic Increasing.

Nearly every day a double-header is required to pull the V. & T. local over the road. Both freight and traffic are on the increase.
